INGROWN TOENAIL TREATMENT

If an ingrown toenail is left untreated by a medical professional, it can lead to worse symptoms, more pain and infection.

Traditionally, when an ingrown toenail is severe, a procedure known as a matrixectomy would be performed by your foot and ankle specialist. This is a procedure where the area of growth that is becoming ingrown is removed/cut out.

ONYFIX IS A PAINLESS, SURGERY-FREE INGROWN TOENAIL TREATMENT

The Onyfix nail correction system is a versatile and innovative product that enables completely painless treatment of almost all forms of ingrown toenails.

Your foot care expert adapts the system individually and fixes it to your nail, which is then brought back into its natural shape as it grows. The whole process is pain-free, during application and throughout the entire treatment!

ONYFIX is particularly suitable for diabetic patients who have “at-risk” feet, as well as children and those with special needs.

Because Onyfix is a surgery-free treatment, the procedure lends itself to those who either are too high-risk to perform a matrixectomy where tissue is cut/removed.

When infants develop an ingrown toenail, this is frequently due to uneven wear (e.g., crawling or running “across” the big toe). In cases such as this, Onyfix Soft is the ideal composite because it can be applied without causing any pain or injury.
